

Prophecy

31 December 2007
(New Years Service)

In the year 2008
The crooked will be made straight
That means that restoration must now come
All will know where it is coming from
From the hand of the Holy God
Take it to heart and see that you forget not Great grace and mercy will be shown
Nations will see where this wind has blown
The wind of revival that will now shake
Shake religious ideas like an earthquake
Here comes the word today -
Many will follow this wind's way
Because for years the Word they did confess
But very few really knew how to possess
Therefore this wind will blow an understanding of prayer
And will cause Christians to pray everywhere
So hear this word today,
For in this understanding of prayer you will again hear what He will say
Say and reveal mysteries that will unite
Different ideas in this revival fire will melt
Melt into one great river of revival
Where you will Know why sometimes He says, "Be still."
So that people will once more hear His voice
And it will not be difficult to make that choice
Storms of frustration will come to rest
For years you thought you have prayed your best
But now in 2008
You will feel the glorious weight
The weight of God's glory will fall
Because out of prayer God will answer the call
The call from His sons and daughters
Bringing the wind, the fire and the waters
Many will know the revival is now here
By grace through prayer you can now steer
Steer My power and direct your words
To bring about prophecy and change religious worlds
In prosperity there will be a supernatural breakthrough
At first it will only be taken by a few
But as the year will grow
Many will understand they will reap what they sow
For it is time for the saints to be able to do more than what they ever thought or prayed
For the Church will be seen when the foundation has been laid
Initially it will not be for all
But eventually on more saints it will fall
The presence the glory and the power
This year, this day, this hour
So in 2008
The crooked will and must be made straight
Restoration double, four fold and more for every saint
So listen and rejoice, no time for complaint
Rise and shine, you are the light
From the midst of you comes glory so bright
Peace and joy is here, too long you've been stressed
People will come to see how you are blessed.
