

Prophecy

6 January 2008

It is time to do the impossible
Which will then become the unforgettable
For you will visibly see when My Spirit falls
As I promised in the book of Joel it will be for one and it will be for all
And in that day you will understand
That I am keeping you right in the hollow of My hand
None will pluck you out neither devour you
Because in the place of God you will stand and the greater works you will be able to do
So it's time to do the impossible
Which will very soon become the unforgettable
Blessings will come in abundance and you will see
That this power invested in you is truly coming from Me
You will understand that angels are not in authority here
But closer and closer, My power and visitation have been drawing near Near to those who for years have been calling and calling
And they will understand that they'll be right there when My Spirit starts falling and falling
So it's time to do the impossible
And very soon it will become the unforgettable
