

Prophecy

19 July 2008

For into this House I will bring peace,
every yoke of bondage, you will find release
of everything that will want to bring you down.
And in this hour you will know
by the tree of living waters, you will grow.
Fruit you will bear, my daughter
Fruit you will bear, my son
Long time ago, this great work has begun
on the cross, outside the city - that's where I paid the price to bring you liberty!
So don't look for another prize,
it's time to realise, I'm bringing you forth in Christ's size to stand mature in the knowledge of Him that bought you with His blood and as you look at my throne, here comes a river, it's bringing a flood.
A flood of My holy glory
and you will be there to tell others this glorious story.
For you will be part of what is happening, right here, right now and all around you'll see nations worshipping, in an attitude of praise they will bow.
You will understand that I'm taking you by the hand, out of everything that could have damaged you or brought you hurt, I will lead you out and you will understand what it means, with Joshua to give the victory shout!
For all around you, walls of resistance will fall,
it's a promise for everyone on my name that will call.
So know the glory of this hour
where you will understand My Spirit, and you will be clothed with My power.
So don't wait for another day,
don't try this promise to delay.
Just open your ears and hear what I have to say,
then open your mouth and speak My Word in boldness in this night.
And you will see, every evil spirit will be put to flight.
For I've brought you out of darkness and I've put you into My marvellous light.
You are My sons, you are My daughters,
now you are standing at holy waters!
