

Prophecy

17 April 2011

Can you not hear God say?
That I'm speaking to you even this day
I will lead you out
And you will again be able to shout
The glory of God in your heart
For a brand new thing today you know will start
And you will get out of every evil way
Because the Lord says, This is a brand new day
I'm taking you out of your yesterday
My light is shining upon you so bright
If you can understand
I have said that you are also the light
I have put you as a city high on a hill
Church of God, I've got to speak – I can't be still
You will understand, you will be able to speak your own story
Because your whole life will be filled with God's glory
No evil anymore to find its way
Because God says, This is a brand new day
Write it down and put it in a book
And every so now-and-then just take a look
And understand that God's Word is true for everyone
And right now a brand new work has already begun
So rise up Church and shine, your light has come
The glory is for everyone, not just for some
The power of God is released in this place
And everywhere people will see God
And all the glory from His face
It's a brand new glory coming from the throne
God says, You are part of My Spirit and you are part of My bone
I'm raising you up
I'm filling your cup
I'm bringing you out
It's time to bring a victory shout
Hallelujah!
